

EU & UK COMPETITION PRACTICE

TRAINING

McGuireWoods' EU & UK competition law practice offers a range of free training seminars for in-house lawyers and business personnel.

Our training is flexible but in general we take the following approach:

- A focus on the needs of the particular audience, concentrating on the commercial/practical issues involved and drawing on our wide-ranging experience.
- The use wherever possible of case studies, workshops and the like so as to engage the audience.
- Typically no more than one hour including questions.

Training can be provided at your offices or at ours in London or Brussels and can be done in various languages.

McGuireWoods is an accredited CPD provider and therefore UK-qualified solicitors attending our training obtain CPD points.

SEMINARS

Our free training seminars include the following:

Topic	Brief summary
Competition law	An introduction
Compliance	How to run a competition law compliance programme
Dawn raids	How to prepare and what to do afterwards
Anti-competitive agreements	An outline of the rules, including the "object" and "effect" distinction
Horizontal co-operation	How competitors can engage with each other
Vertical arrangements	Relationships between suppliers and their downstream customers
Abuse of a dominant position	An outline
Competition law and IP	The interface
Merger control	How to manage the process, use it to your advantage and carry out competition law due diligence
Litigation	How to enforce competition law and how to obtain damages for its breach
Public procurement	What it is and how it can work for you
State aid	What it is and how it can work for you

BESPOKE SEMINARS

In addition to the list of topics set out above, bespoke training on particular competition, trade and public procurement law issues affecting your business is also available. Depending on your specific requirements, a charge may need to be made. We would be very happy to discuss the possibilities with you.
